THE BRITISH PACIFIC.

The rejection by the British Columbia government of the proposals of the British Pacific railway company for the construction of a railway from Comox, a point on the Esquimalt and Nanaimo railway on Vancouver Island by way of Bute Inlet through Cariboo to the boundary of the province in the Jasper Pass, is arousing a great deal of hostile feeling in the province, and particularly in the capital, Victoria. What was practically an indignation meeting of the citizens of Victoria was held on March 15th, at which the chief promoters of the scheme and the members of the government met on the platform and threshed out the question before the audience. R. P. Rithet, M. L. A., who has hitherto been a supporter of the provincial administration led by Mr. Turner, was the principal spokesman for the promoters. In speaking he said it was not so much the rejection of the proposals of the company with which he found fault, as to the fact that the government have shown so little disposition to encourage in any way any modification of the proposals. He showed that the members of the government as well as himself had been returned, with the British Pacific project as the leading plank in their platforms. Without such a railway as that proposed the larger and most valuable part of the province must remain undeveloped. He maintained that the development that would result from the construction of the railway would be ample return for the cost to the province. The estimated cost of the road of 477½ miles was $23,000,000. The aid asked was $240,000 a year for twenty-five years, equal to four per cent to a capital amount of $6,000,000, or to an actual cash payment by the province of $4,363,363, for the company was to provide the difference between that sum and $6,000,000 by a sinking fund. The land grant asked was 25,000,000 acres. No money was asked for for two years and then the money was only to be paid by the province as the work progressed. The B. C. government had guaranteed the bonds of the Shuswap and Okanagan branch of the C. P. R. to the amount of $25,000 a mile, and the Nakusp and Elocan $17,500 a mile. The British Pacific proposal was equal to less than $8,000 a mile in cash and 20,000 acres of land per mile, on the mainland and 10,000 acres per mile on Vancouver Island. The cost of the road would be between $30,000 and $40,000 per mile. Speaking of the value of the country to be developed he said that since 1888 the mines of Cariboo had yielded $55,000,000.

The reply of Premier Turner made it amply evident that whatever his platform might have been when he was elected, his present policy was not favorable to the British Pacific scheme. Instead of taking the position of one interested in the development of the province, he took a strictly negative stand, merely finding fault with the standing of the company and declaring the inability of the province to bear the proposed additional burden. He thought Cariboo could be developed far more cheaply by a branch line of the C. P. R. This suggestion was received with a storm of indignation by the audience, who finally agreed almost unanimously to a resolution charging the government with breach of faith in the matter, and encouraging the representatives who favored the enterprise to continue their course.

The premier made a great handle of the fact that the company had not made any arrangements for connections east of the mountains, in order to make their scheme a transcontinental line. In reply to this Mr. Rithet said, "until we get a standing from the province how can we arrange for connections."

Right here comes in the responsibility of the Dominion parliament and of the representatives of the Northwest in parliament in this matter. Premier Turner did not say or hint that British Columbia would not aid such a project liberally, but he used the fact that it had not yet received and was not likely to receive Dominion encouragement as an argument against it. The construction of this road as an independent transcontinental line, competing with the C. P. R. from Victoria to Winnipeg—from which point there is a choice of routes east—is as important to the development of the Saskatchewan valley as it is to Northern British Columbia. It is the one chance of that competition in railway rates, without which the country can never progress as it should. It is the settled policy of the present government not only not to encourage, but to discourage and indeed actually prevent effective competition with the C. P. R. in the Northwest. The Northwest as a whole and particularly the Saskatchewan region of the Northwest needs the British Pacific as an active competitor with the C. P. R. more than it needs any other thing. It can never get that as long as the present alliance between the C. P. R. and the party at present in power in Ottawa continues. The only thing to be done in such a case is to break the combination by turning out the government and the only way to turn out the government is to vote against the government candidate at the coming elections; just as the people of British Columbia propose to do regarding the combination against railway competition which has evidently been made in that province. The development of the richest gold fields in the world—Cariboo—and the development of the greatest agricultural area in Canada—the Saskatchewan Valley—depends on the construction of the proposed railway, and the government of Canada and the government of British Columbia are both pledged against it. When the government of the country is against the progress and welfare of the country it is the duty of every citizen to be against the government.

Mr. Foster announced in the house on Friday the 20th that "the government was pledged to remedial legislation and will not recede one inch." This being the case, why does the government send a commission to Winnipeg to make terms with the Manitoba government? Do they expect to persuade Greenway to make concessions that would bury him out of sight in Manitoba politics; or are they just sending the commission for fun; or are they—Mr. Foster to the contrary notwithstanding—preparing to accept the policy of conciliation laid down by that "hell inspired hypocrite" Laurier? What Mr. Foster says and what Mr. Foster does, do not necessarily have any connection in this any more than in other matters, after his turn has been served. Incidentally it may be mentioned that Archbishop Langevin does not approve of the proposed conference. There is very little doubt that His Grace, who is not unacquainted with political wiles, smells a mice.

The Regina Leader says that Chas. Brown, late staff-sergeant, in the mounted police on duty in the Yukon region has been appointed customs officer in the Yukon. This is the position which it was supposed had been promised to D. W. Davis, M. P.

L. A. Davies, M. P. for Prince Edward Island, gave the following as some of his reasons for opposing the so called remedial bill: "I oppose this bill because it is a political fraud, a parliamentary juggler; because it embodies the maximum of evil with the minimum of good; because while applying a coercion hateful to all Canadians it is confessedly inefficient and unworkable; because on its very face it lacks finality and by calling for further amendments must necessarily rekindle and encourage racial and religious disputes. I oppose it because it invokes an interference with provincial rights only to be tolerated in the last resort; and after careful investigation proves the existence of well-founded grievances which the legislature will not remedy. I oppose it because, while technically within our powers, it is under present circumstances morally outside them; and because it is an uncalculated and arbitrary exercise of a limited constitutional privilege or power, only to be resorted to when all other means have failed. I oppose it because, while ostensibly pretending to remedy the grievances of the minority, it gives them no effectual relief, and, while creating a vast and obnoxious machinery, provides no motive power either to start it going or keep it moving."

The Battisford Herald announces that in the event of Mr. D. H. McDowell, M. P., not being the conservative candidate in Saskatchewan, Mr. H. Mitchell, M. L. A., will be the conservative standard bearer. The points in Mr. McCarthy's amendment to the government's motion to go into committee on the remedial bill, are that the bill is beyond the power of this parliament to pass because it fails to carry the remedial order fully into effect; that it assumes to delegate the powers vested in the provincial legislature to levy taxes in the province; that it purports to interfere with the law which requires the payment of taxes in support of public schools; that it purports to vest in the governor-general-in-council authority appertaining to the Lieutenant-governor of the province with whom the executive of the government over the province is vested only by the constitution, and lastly that there are questions of law whether the bill, if passed into law, can be repealed or amended by this parliament. Minister of Justice Dickey admitted there was some force in the points raised, but not sufficient to prevent proceeding with the bill in committee.

SILVER WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKernan, of South Edmonton, celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding on Monday evening last. Mr. and Mrs. McKernan are amongst the earliest settlers in the Edmonton district who came from Eastern Canada, and have prospered as their industry, energy and good management deserved. Since the construction of the railway they have been active in all matters leading to the welfare and progress of South Edmonton. In order that there might be ample accommodation for the number of invited guests, the celebration took place in the Raymond hotel, South Edmonton. The large and commodious building was not more than sufficient to accommodate the numerous attending. The guests began to arrive about 8:30 to 9 o'clock. The South Edmonton brass band gave a serenade in honor of the occasion. The band was invited in and played several selections in the hall room in excellent taste and style. Dancing was then commenced and kept up with spirit. Music was furnished by L. Gurneau and Jas. McMunn, violins, and piano. At twelve o'clock Mr. and Mrs. McKernan were requested to take their place in the centre of the ball room when a complimentary address from the South Edmonton agricultural society, of which Mr. McKernan is president, was read and he was presented with a very handsome silver cup, gold lined, about eighteen inches in height, beautifully designed having the following inscription: "Presented to R. McKernan, J. P., president of the South Edmonton agricultural society 1894-5-6." Mr. McKernan was taken by surprise, but made a suitable response. A magnificent supper was then served to which over one hundred guests sat down, notwithstanding the bad state of the roads which kept many persons away. After supper dancing was resumed and kept up until an early hour on Tuesday morning. The ball room was tastefully decorated, not the least noticeable feature being several large programmes of the dance hung on the wall, of the work of W. H. McMahon, artist, South Edmonton. They were in Mr. McMahon's best style.

The following is a list of the presents: J. G. Blain, R. Crockett, B. S. Hammond and D. S. McKenzie, Clock.

THE VOTE.

One hundred and six members out of a house of 215 voted on the remedial bill. Laurier's amendment was defeated by a vote of 115 to 91, a majority of 24. The division list was given in last issue.

The vote on the second reading was carried by a vote of 112 to 94, a majority of 18. The difference was made by three conservatives McGillivray, Hughes and Ross (Dundas) who voted against Laurier's amendment voting against the second reading. Of the six votes not cast, Dr. Montague was paired with Col. Dennison, of Toronto, Sir Donald Smith was paired with Mr. Rowand, Mr. Corby was absent in Europe, three Quebec constituencies were vacant and the speaker of course did not vote. So that really every member of the house has been counted except one, Mr. Corby. Eighteen conservatives voted against the second reading, and seven liberals voted for it. The conservative bolters were:

Beaudet, Calvin, Caracallon Cockburn, Henderson, Hodgins, Rosemond, Sprules, Tyrwhitt, Wallace, Weldon, Wilson, Ross (Dundas), McGillivray, Hughes, Craig, McNeill, MacLean (York).

The seven liberal bolters were: Angers, Beaulieu, De Lisle, Devlin, Fremond, McIsaac, and Vaillancourt.

Lieutenant-Governor Mackintosh is to return to Regina at once.

John Nankville was sentenced in Winnipeg to imprisonment for life for the attempted murder of his companion Smith.

Regina is to have a new $16,000 land office during the coming season—if the estimates pass, or probably whether they pass or not.

Intense heat prevailed throughout Australia in January, causing many deaths and great loss of stock. The Coolgardie gold fields in Western Australia have been almost deserted on account of the heat and hundreds of the miners have perished. Great storms followed the hot spell.

BEAVER LAKE (EAST).

So far as I can learn, less snow fell here on the 8th than at Edmonton, though we got fully five inches.

Our new school is nearing completion. We expect the Rev. Alex. Forbes out to conduct the opening service.

Rev. Mr. Whitesides preached here for the first time on March 1st. The congregation was large and attentive. Mr. Whitesides is to hold service here once a month after this.

Two petitions were circulated in the district; one being in favor of having the old trail around the lake straightened, the other asking to have the land office re-opened. Both were largely signed.

In addition to the waste of fish reported not long since as having occurred at Ross creek, I have been told by responsible parties that some Germans not far from Brown's creek, at the south end, have been doing the same thing there. They catch the fish in wagon loads during the spawning season, and leave hundreds to rot on the banks of the creek.

March 19th, '96.

The communication from R. H. Haywood, regarding insurance, was acknowledged and it was decided to take up the question of a fire alarm system for the town.

It was decided to ask the commissioner of the H. B. Co. for a free right of way for the proposed railway across the H. B. property and for a land grant well and to forward him a copy of the plan.

The finance committee reported that the discrepancies in the collectors roll which had been pointed out by the auditors had been satisfactorily accounted for by the collector.

Letters from Mayor Wilson, addressed to acting Mayor McCauley regarding the progress of the Edmonton district railway charter, were read. The bill is now before senate. It has been amended to give power to amalgamate with the Edmonton street railway company, whose charter had a prior claim. These letters state that the government never had any intention of changing the site for the traffic bridge.
